Pleasanton firefighters Doug Brearey (left) and Bob Londagin are just bubbling over at a new foam - dispensing nozzle the city plans to buy. The $150 unit mixes water with Ultrafoam Concentrate, and can be used to smother fires in seconds. The $7 a gallon foam is primarily designed for flammable liquid fires, and can be a lifesaver in car accidents when spilled gasoline ignites. Capt. Doug Cracraft directed the sudsy operation to test the new unit yesterday at Fire Station No. 1 on Railroad Avenue.

Charges fly in the great fire probe

PLEASANTON — George Withers, appearing "on trial" before the city's personnel board to determine if his demotion by City Manager Bill Edgar was justified, was the odd man out among the city's three fire captains, according to testimony at the Council Chambers yesterday.

And that "odd man out" status was either good or bad, depending on which official you believe.

Former city fire chief Jon Frudden, who traveled to the city from Pismo Beach where he now serves as fire chief, evaluated Withers from 1969 to 1974, when Frudden left the city.

In Frudden's estimation, Withers was a good communicator with the chief and also with his subordinates.

George Withers 'on trial'

By contrast, Captain Doug Cracraft and Captain Bert Cherry left something to be desired and there was poor morale on their shifts, said Frudden. At least two complaints were filed against Cherry by the men on his shift and there was griping about Cracraft, said Frudden.

The complaints were that the two captains were "overbearing." There was even the "cricket in the bedstead" incident involving Cherry, said Frudden.

When Cherry retired one night, he discovered crickets in his bed and asked the men what that was all about. He apparently held them responsible for the crickets being there, said Frudden.

On the other hand, Withers boosted morale of his men. They even made brackets for various equipment on the truck, thanks to Withers' inspiration, said Frudden.

McCloud on the other hand, saw Withers as lacking initiative and as a quiet person who did not assert himself. One specific instance he cited was a class attended by himself and all of the captains. Withers was quiet in the class, but Cracraft and Cherry were outgoing and took part in class activities, said McCloud.

McCloud also criticized Withers for not knowing that firefighters at the downtown station were planting a small victory garden on station property and for not prohibiting the parking of a boat in the driveway of the Highland Oaks station, which is a converted house.

Withers' attorney, Alan Davis of San Francisco, asked McCloud whether or not it is against the law to have a garden at a station, or even a boat. McCloud said it wasn't, but if all city employees stored things like boats on city property, it would be a bad situation.

Much of the questioning talked about Withers' service with the city prior to the 14 month period which led to his recent demotion. It may not have been very relevant to the demotion, but it was the most interesting testimony to date for the audience, mostly firefighters and their sympathizers, because it started to expose "what's really going on in the fire department" in their view.

McCloud suggested that Frudden said one of the reasons he departed in 1974 was trouble from Cracraft and Cherry. Frudden admitted he didn't always get along with the two, but did not acknowledge that as the reason for leaving.

City Attorney Ken Scheidig, representing the city's action in demoting Withers, asked Frudden whether or not he had an interest in criticizing Cracraft because at one time Cracraft was the only captain in the department, and therefore a rival for the chief's job. Frudden denied the allegation.

Davis brought up the question of whether or not Cherry, who was made administrative captain, had any right to evaluate Withers and Cracraft. Apparently Cracraft didn't get a recent written evaluation, but Withers did, said Davis. He implied that Cherry had a stake in giving Withers a poor evaluation, since Withers at equal rank and longer service in the Pleasanton department, was a natural rival for his job. Cherry denied it and repeated statements made the previous day that it's part of his duties to evaluate both Cracraft and Withers under the department's current structure.

Testimony in the morning covered the Fallon House fire. Former Herald and News reporter John Oliver, a witness to the fire, said Withers directed him to Fire Marshal Ted Klenk for the authoritative word on whether the department was burning the right house. Klenk, who supposedly did the research on the whole burn in his job as fire prevention officer, insisted it was the right house, and even put doubts in Oliver's head.

McCloud, though, said later that Withers was the top Pleasanton officer on the scene and had the higher responsibility. McCloud heard about the fire when Klenk, back at the office during the burn, was talking to his secretary about it. He told Klenk not to come back to the station if he was burning the wrong house.

Davis asked if McCloud had thought about going out to the scene himself, but McCloud felt that with two officers on the scene, it wasn't necessary.

Chamber suggests Support reservists to curb vandals

PLEASANTON — The Chamber of Commerce is interested in organizing community-wide effort that would bolster the Police Reserves as "one means of helping combat vandalism in the business sectors."

Mark Gerton offered the suggestion at a Tuesday noon meeting that saw several ideas advanced with "improving the business climate" as their goal.

Gerton recalled the police department's complaint that a shortage of uniformed officers was a major reason for light patrols in the business sectors, recently the target of juvenile pranks, damage and loitering.

One major new source of manpower would be the police reserves, Gerton said, adding that "the cost of uniforms and equipment which must now be carried by the reservist often makes that community service prohibitive." He suggests the chamber and "other civic groups throughout the city" look to funding for "a half dozen or so reservists", and thus bolster that city force for business sector patrols.

On that same subject, Leon Holliday, chairman of the Merchants Committee, noted that "vandalism has really dropped off in the last two weeks," and he credited "the coverage given this problem by the press" with helping abate that problem.

Looking to improvement of the downtown image, chamber members also pledged support to the "Trees for Pleasanton" program which to date has raised over $4000 toward a goal of "replenishing the stands of lovely trees which used to flank all major streets and roads in the city." The chamber is particularly interested in seeing the Trees for Pleasanton committee work with city staff to plant trees along Main Street and in the core area business sector.

"I believe that all of us are interested in preserving the charm of Old Pleasanton," said Joyce Getty, a Main Street business owner.

Merle Telford, chamber president, advised the membership that "we are making progress" in an earlier suggestion to bring representation from Amador High School together with local merchants in order to help resolve the noontime crush of students in the some of the business areas.

On the upcoming ballot question of a Valley Pipeline, the chamber accepted a motion by Bill Hirst that would place the chamber in support of Proposition U, the pipeline measure. That motion will be voted on at next Tuesday's luncheon meeting at Hap's Restaurant.

Also on that Tuesday noon agenda will be Assemblyman Floyd Mori who will speak on state legislation as it concerns the local economy.

Enthusiastic reports for the "Pleasanton Daze" events were also heard with Telford reporting "we expect to show a small profit" once all the figures are in. The barbecue held that week was a sellout with over 300 steaks served. Some chamber members suggested "we ought to do this kind of thing more than once every year" and plans along that line will be studied, Telford promised.

School district supt. Williams in hospital

Superintendent Donald Williams of the Murray School District has been hospitalized again, possibly because of a heart condition that forced him to be out a month last spring.

Williams suffered what was termed a mild heart attack at the time and spent several days at Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek. He then was ordered by his doctor to recuperate at home for several weeks.

He reportedly was hospitalized at Kaiser Tuesday evening.

With Phillip Chubb, district business manager who submitted his resignation Monday, on vacation status, the district's day-to-day affairs are being administered by assistant superintendent Heinz Gewing.

Chubb's decision to take early retirement, effective Dec. 1, means the district will be without a business manager for much of the next three months.

He and his wife's intentions to spend a portion of the next 2½ weeks in the Soviet Union was confirmed Wednesday. Yet his intent to leave the district Dec. 1 was not known publicly until just last week.

Williams informed Murray board members Monday the recruitment process would begin immediately, with the intention of bringing a new business manager on board by Christmas or early January.

The board will also be reviewing a detailed report and recommendation to convert Dublin School to seventh - eighth grade use by the Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC).

A detailed synopsis of the report will run in The Times during the following two editions.

'One hurdle' to retail hub '77 start for Stoneridge

PLEASANTON — Stoneridge Regional Center is still on target for a 1977 ground breaking and a 1979 opening with three major department stores anchoring that retail complex.

Responding to comments made at a Monday city council meeting indicating the center on I - 680 near I - 580 might never be built, a spokesman for Bayshore Properties confirmed that firm's plans for its Pleasanton land.

"We are deep into planning for Phase One of Stoneridge Center, and we are looking for a fall of 1977 ground - breaking," said Robert F. Eynck, Bayshore executive.

Eynck did indicate however that "there is just one hurdle" that now stands in the way of that schedule. "Passage of the Valley Pipeline (on the November ballot) is critical to VCSD's ability to sewer additional areas, and that is the only obstacle we now face in regards to development of our property."

Earlier, attempts to block completion of I - 580 to full freeway standards, including an expanded interchange at Foothill Road, was rated "a serious threat" to that 1977 start for the regional center which would front on that portion of Foothill Road. But that opposition was resolved and the interchange construction is now underway.

Eynck acknowledged "we are aware of the lowered population projections for the Valley, and we have adjusted our own plans accordingly." The result is "our first major tenants will now build slightly smaller outlets than were first considered." Macy's, Capwell's and J.C. Penney are scheduled to be part of Stoneridge's Phase One, Eynck said.

Stoneridge owns in excess of 400 acres between Foothill and I - 680, and the retail center is only part of the housing development now underway for that sector.

A key element of community-wide interest in that development will be the Stoneridge Drive overcrossing which the developers have pledged to underwrite in conjunction with the retail regional center's first phase.

"We are confident that Stoneridge overcrossing is cleared by the state and we see no reason now why it would not be built," Eynck said.

The council comments suggesting "skepticism" about the Stoneridge Center's future in the city came from Councilman Wm. Herlihy, and were apparently his own "gut feeling" about the future of Valley commerce in the light of reduced population goals.

Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin are now projected to a 1998 population total of about 150,000, not including San Ramon Valley in Contra Costa County. Stoneridge Regional Center will be geared to a market area of 250,000, drawing from well outside this Valley in addition to the local populace, it has been stated.

Pleasanton board ponders Vintage Hills busing

PLEASANTON — Pleasanton Joint School District Trustees last night considered ways and means of reinstating busing for middle grade students going from Vintage Hills and Jensen Estates to Pleasanton School.

Supt. Bruce Newlin offered two solutions that could put 125 Vintage Hills and 40 to 50 Jensen Estate students back on buses.

Total cost to contract with the Amador District for one bus, reinstate one bus and hire one driver would be $15,300.

One solution offered would reinstate bus stops at Vintner-Park site, Madeira and Sylvaner, and Chardonnay and Sylvaner.

A petition signed by 54 Vintage Hills residents requested reinstatement of bus service.

Parents and teachers, numbering about 75, heard a petition spokesman tell of students walking two miles or more in the rain and one other being knocked off her bike on Vinyard by two youths on a motorcycle.

Trustees also heard a report on the K-8 classroom music program.

Fair revamps track policies

While the County Fair Association's racing committee will unanimously recommend continuation of the horse training program at the Alameda County Fairgrounds, some revamping of stabling and track policy may be in store.

Coming under question Tuesday night were monthly stable fees, consideration of a minimum stable occupancy number and track training hours.

Prior to discussing the horse training facilities, race committee members held a volatile discussion with pro-greyhound racing interests that later, out of ear shot of panel members, turned into a confrontation between Pets'n Pals members (opposed to the greyhound racing initiative) and proponents from Hayward and San Leandro.

According to a Pets'n Pals spokesperson, the Proposition 13 supporters became antagonistic and referred to them as "humane-iacs."

The committee, chaired by George McDermott, had earlier unanimously recommended the board not consider dog racing for the Fairgrounds in Pleasanton. A few moments later the panel recommended the board support a "no" position on Prop. 13. The latter motion will be forwarded to the Western Fair Association governing body.

The twin stands evoked pointed comments from several audience members, who also questioned Fair Association secretary - manager Lee Hall on the economics of the stabling and track facilities.

Supervisor John Murphy, who is liaison between the Fair board and Supervisors, retorted that "All that's before the board is Prop. 13. They put it to rest in January and then put it to rest again in July." Murphy was referring to previous contacts by George Hardie of the Greyhound Racing Association who proffered a lease agreement for dog racing (using local facilities) and asked to make a presentation on dog racing.

Hall told race committee members the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona sets a minimum stable occupancy number (250) and if the number of horses stabled falls under that number the track is closed down.

The local facility has no such policy.

At present, the stabling fee is $25 a month and horse owners pay utilities and feed. A deposit as well as stable rent is required. The track is open for workouts until 10 a.m. on weekdays and 8 a.m. on weekends and holidays. Horsemen training after those hours do so at their own risk.

Committee member Dee Wilson suggested the group tour the facilities and take a look at what improvements could be made.

It was decided the Fair Association staff should calculate what would be an economically feasible minimum stabling number.

In other business, Hall warned that the Fair would "eventually have to go to multiple mutual machines" and estimated re-wiring of present machines might cost $100,000. "This may ultimately prove our salvation," Hall contended.

The panel also discussed security patrols on the grounds, contracts and salaries for certain racing officials, possible utilization of janitorial services for the grandstand and a progress report on Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association matters.

The regular monthly fair board meeting is next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

"RAP" SHEET

Burglar arrested outside Granucci's Lounge
LIVERMORE — A 22-year-old Livermore man was placed under citizen's arrest after he was spotted allegedly getting out of a car that had just been burglarized.

According to reports, William George Santos of Oregon had just left Granucci's about 2 a.m. Tuesday. He told police he saw a man walk from the pick-up truck to a nearby Dodge.

John Oliver Goertz of Kennedy Way said he left Granucci's a short time later, walked up to his truck and noticed the tools missing. Santos pointed out the suspect, and both men detained him until police units arrived.

Gary Paul Dotson, 22, of 2186 Seventh St., was booked on suspicion of petty theft and receiving stolen property.

Dotson told police he was asleep in his car and awoke to find several people milling about his vehicle.

Police recovered $80 in goods, including tools, a citizens band power microphone, and two speakers.

Marijuana plants confiscated from Livermore home

LIVERMORE — Four marijuana plants discovered growing inside a Wall Street home Sunday were confiscated and their 17-year-old cultivator arrested, police said.

According to reports, police and a Tuolumne County investigator went to the home looking for a runaway juvenile. Once inside, they spotted four plants growing in plain sight.

A 17-year-old suspect at the residence said the plants were his. He was arrested and booked on suspicion of cultivating marijuana. The suspect also gave police information that led to the missing juvenile.

Another youth was taken into custody on investigation of cultivation charges.

Fire truck in accident with Toyota

LIVERMORE — A Livermore Fire Department truck, responding to a smoke investigation on Mayten Drive, collided with a Toyota at Murrieta and Pine streets early Sunday, police reported yesterday.

According to reports, the fire engine, driven by firefighter Richard Lamb, was travelling westbound on Pine with its lights and siren actuated. As Lamb slowed the truck to about 5 mph and turned the corner onto Murrieta, the accident occurred.

Florence Vaclav of Falcon Way said she was travelling about 25 mph when she saw the truck, but it was too late to avoid a collision.

Police determined that due to tall buildings and a six foot high fence, Vaclav was unable to see the truck in time. Officers said the fire truck was going no more than 5 mph when he went through a stop sign onto Murrieta.

Vaclav sustained a cut on her chin. Her five-year-old son, Robert Allen Vaclav, was reported shaken.

No citations were issued.

CB radio taken from car in 30 minute period

LIVERMORE — While Edward Robert Escover's unlocked car was parked in his driveway for only 30 minutes Monday evening, burglars ripped his citizens band radio from the dashboard, police reported.

Escover told police he returned to his Drake Way home at 8:30 p.m. Monday, went inside for a half hour, then returned to find the radio missing.

It is described as a Cobra brand 23-channel unit worth $200.

There are no suspects.

Tools taken from truck pick-up bed

PLEASANTON — Burglars cut the lock to a toolbox attached to Gilbert Baca's truck and took tools valued at $500.

Groundwater resource studies are extended

Alameda County Bureau
OAKLAND — The seven-year-old, $154,000 study of the valley's "groundwater resources" will take another two years and cost another $80,000, county supervisors agreed yesterday.

The county's Zone 7 and the State Department of Water Resources want "to perform additional investigations and formulate and evaluate alternative groundwater management plans" in studying the basin, according to county engineer Paul Lanferman's memo to the board.

The contract amendment, approved last month by Zone 7 directors, extends the agreement to Jan. 1, 1978, and raises maximum expenses to $234,000.

The maximum obligations of both Zone 7 and the state department increase from $77,000 to $117,000.

The zone will pay some $20,000 each year with money from its flood control fund.

Snow - drenched mountain known only as "K2" Explorer Galen Rowell talks about it at a slide show Tuesday night in the Rec Center.

Skilled climber visits valley

LIVERMORE — Mountaineer Galen Rowell will be visiting town Tuesday.

The famous photographer, writer and mountain climber will show slides taken during last year's expedition to "K2," the second highest mountain in the world.

Sponsored by the local Sunrise Mountaineering store, Rowell will be at the Recreation Center, Eighth and H Streets, at 7:45 p.m. Advance tickets are $1, at the door $1.50.

K2 is located in perhaps the wildest, most rugged mountain range in the world, the Karakoram Himalaya.

That range has been closed to climbers by the Pakistani government for many years, but reopened in 1974. It remains relatively unexplored compared to other mountain regions.

The primitive nature of the land is also evident in the natives of the area. Through his skill as a photographer, Rowell has captured the story not only of day-to-day life on a large Himalayan expedition but also the essence of the lifestyle of the native people.

Losses at county hospitals will be made up through increased charges, says Rowlands, while welfare salary losses were covered through budget transfers.

He says his office made the "best estimate based on available payroll, revenue and expense information."

Similar figures were not available from Santa Clara County where service employees struck earlier this year. Rowlands said Santa Clara officials did not develop as detailed a breakdown as did his office.

County estimates strike costs

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — The seven-week county employees strike that curtailed fairgrounds' racing and ended only after bitter, near marathon negotiations cost the county an estimated $45,000 according to figures released this week by the county administrator's office.

While $1.8 million was saved on salaries and employee benefits, $1.6 million in revenues were lost.

The figures "in no way are meant to indicate the exact actual costs of the strike," says deputy administrator David Rowlands, Jr.

"Such information cannot be fully determined until several months after the strike when the full impact of county claims for state reimbursement is known."

The county lost an additional $268,400 in "services and supplies" and another $7,500 from damage to county property.

Losses at county hospitals will be made up through increased charges, says Rowlands, while welfare salary losses were covered through budget transfers.

He says his office made the "best estimate based on available payroll, revenue and expense information."

Similar figures were not available from Santa Clara County where service employees struck earlier this year. Rowlands said Santa Clara officials did not develop as detailed a breakdown as did his office.

'Trivia Bowl' benefit billed

The "First Annual Trivia Bowl" (and possibly the last!) will officially open the "bowl season" next Thursday, with proceeds going to aid the Foothill High School athletic complex.

Four teams, made up of the most trivial minds in the valley, will do battle at Hap's Restaurant starting at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 14. Tickets priced at $1.50 will be available at the door (banquet room in rear of restaurant).

Slated to compete are the Pleasanton Lions Club, Foothill High Boosters, The Times and an "all-star" mystery trivia team. Moderator for the evening will be Ben Fernandez, nationally - renowned trivia master and captain of the world - champion Cheese Factory trivia team.

Allen attacking opponent's signs

Alameda County Bureau

Bay Area Rapid Transit District director Bob Allen won't let go of the campaign sign flap.

Rebuffed last week by an Alameda County Superior Court Judge who enjoined Allen from tearing down any legally posted signs and warned him of tampering with any allegedly illegal signs, the incumbent director this week fired off a letter to CalTrans chief of outdoor advertising Joseph Barr.

Allen sent Barr a map of his BART district and 25 photos of signs Allen believes were "posted promiscuously by COGS," the Candidates' Outdoor Graphics Service contracted by opponent John R. McCardle to hang his green-on-white marker.

"Many are in the public right of way," says Allen, "in and outside city limits and on private property without permission in violation of the California Outdoor Advertising Act."

The snapshots include "five clearly illegal signs," according to Allen, four posted on private property "where the owners have given the authority to abate," while nine others "appear to be illegal."

Signs posted on Southern Pacific property — Allen's employer — are "unauthorized."

Allen wants Barr's agency to take action because "deliberate violators receive an unfair advantage."

CalTrans has jurisdiction under the state's controversial Outdoor Advertising Act.

Both Allen and McCardle claimed victory after their court fight. Allen said the judge enjoined him from "doing nothing that I wasn't going to do in the first place." He was not after legally posted signs, he said.

But McCardle, unavailable for comment yesterday on Allen's latest move, said at the time that "it's fundamentally a constitutional question of first amendment rights to freedom of speech. Can the government say to you that you can't post a political sign in a certain area?"

Lawrence Jarvis, McCardle's law partner and attorney in last week's imbroglio, said he would "wait and see" what CalTrans does. "I'd much rather have the authorities make the decision on what's proper."

He said a two-month-old decision by the Ninth Federal Circuit Court struck down a Redwood City sign ordinance that was "similar" to the state's Outdoor Advertising Act.

Both require posting fees, he said, that the court ruled an unconstitutional violation of free speech.

"The (state) law was basically to regulate advertising for business," said Jarvis. "I don't think they contemplated political signs and I don't know of any case where they admonished the candidate."

"I wish Mr. Allen would raise some issues about BART instead of continuing this sign thing," he added.

Meanwhile, Allen said he sees no merit in campaign signs and would limit his advertising to newspapers.

Doubles tennis a different bag

OAKLAND—In tennis, there has been a simplistic belief that pairing the best two players creates a championship doubles team.

That's not the way it necessarily works, even if Jimmy Connors and Ilie Nastase did win at Forest Hills last year.

Among the doubles comenents, the familiar names are Wojtek Fibak and Karl Meiler, Fred McNeil and Sherwood Stewart, Frew McMillan and Bob Hewitt. You never heard of them?

Fibak, of Poland and Meiler of West Germany won the WCT doubles title, worth $20,000 apiece, at Kansas City in early May. McNeil and Stewart are the No. 2 ranked team in the United States although neither will make the top 50 in singles ratings.

"We fit together like two pieces of a jigsaw puzzle," explains McNeil. "Stewart has a very strong first serve and return of serve but only on the serve and on overhead smashes. His reach is limited, but he is cat quick at the net. Hewitt is strong, with heavy strokes and a dependable return of service but one of the slowest men in big league tennis. Together they have achieved something chemistry as a doubles team.

"We were asked to team together by our national association," says McMillan. "And we won 44 straight matches. Our first loss was in the quarter-finals of the French Amateur, but in that same year (1967) we won Wimbledon by beating Ilie Nastase and Ion Tiriac of Rumania."

What makes two players without individual greatness pair up so successfully?

"One has to have a love of the doubles game," says McMillan. "As he is swinging from the right or left side, and even volleying at the net, he lets his left hand slip from the grip imbalance of interest is suggested. Also an imbalanced payoff.

The doubles winners at Forest Hills will split $12,000 (up from $4,500 a year ago). The singles winners, both men and women, will get $40,000 each.

Women athletes go for Spalding

NEW YORK — Yes sir, old Albert Goodwill Spalding must be spinning in his grave like a fast ball.

He and his brother, Walter, began selling baseballs in Chicago in the 1870s, when Albert was pitching for Chicago. They each invested $400 to form a company called, what else, Spalding, and eventually moved to Boston. (Actually, they moved to Chicopee, Mass., just outside Boston.)

Last year, Spalding realized more than $150 million in total sales.

But, according to Richard M. Geisler, president of Spalding who was visiting New York recently, the reason A. G. would be spinning is that women accounted for a good part of those dollars.

"Redbook Magazine" did a survey on women participating in sports and they found that 46 percent of women between the ages of 18 and 34 participate in some kind of outdoor sport.

"The big dollars," he says, "are in tennis where an estimated 10 million women play the game or at least wear the clothes. In fact, the tennis clothing market will be over $100 million this year, with women spending $52 million."

And that's why Spalding began marketing its own line of women's tennis clothing last August. Dresses, separates and warm-up suits.

"We hired two product managers from the garment industry and then we commissioned Doll Cole here in New York to design the clothes. We sold out the spring line — we do two lines a year — and we expect to do very well with our new fall line which is just coming out."

Spalding, the second largest manufacturer of sporting goods in the country (Wilson Sporting Goods is first in golf and tennis) isn't overlooking the four million women on the golf course, either. At least as far as equipment goes.

"We're just starting in women's golf clubs," Geisler says. "Women have had to take hand me downs from men and manufacturers have had the tendency in the past to take men's clubs and put women's names on them. A woman needs a little lighter club, one with a little smaller grip area and a shorter shaft."

And, of course, there's the golf ball. "Women swing a club slower — so do men who are slightly built — so we designed a molded ball for women, as opposed to a wound ball. It goes farther when hit slower."

EBAL compares with the best

BERKELEY — Most observers of high school soccer in the Bay Area agree that the East Bay Athletic League rates among the area's toughest loops.

A look at the University of California's roster here backs up that belief.

Three former EBAL players are currently on the California soccer team. Freshman Matt Bryant from Dublin High School is a starter at outside wing, sophomore Mike Ramil from Granada is a reserve halfback and ex-Amador Valley star Paul Despotakis is a second-string goalkeeper.

"They're all good players and that shows the EBAL's strength," admitted Cal coach Bob DiGrazia (he's also assistant athletic director). "Matt's only a freshman and he's starting so that shows how good he is."

Junior Despotakis is currently playing behind Chris Baudoin, a player from Canada.

"Paul started last year," DiGrazia said. "This year the two players are running neck-and-neck for the starting position."

Ramil has also done well, according to DiGrazia. "He's a good position player and defender," the coach said.

Bryant appears to be headed for real stardom. He scored two goals for the Bears in their 4-1 victory over Cal Poly of Pomona last weekend.

"He's really quick. He's a real skilled player," DiGrazia said about the former Dublin standout. "He's still has a few problems going up against bigger players but he's working that out. He's about 5-8, 140 pounds."

The Bears, 3-2 this season, take on UC Santa Barbara at Berkeley today and the EBAL players should play a large part in the contest.

DiGrazia rates the EBAL with any league in the Bay Area.

"I would say the EBAL, the Fremont-Newark area, the Foothill Athletic League and San Jose are the best areas in Northern California," he stated. "Some of the Sacramento area schools are pretty good but they're just a shade behind the teams in this area."

When pressed as to which area has the strongest prep soccer, DiGrazia gave a slight nod to San Jose.

"They've got a lot of schools down there in a rapid development of the valley's youth teams went to tournaments in other states and Canada and came back with first-place trophies, impressive because of the number of teams involved in the competitions."

Some day the California Interscholastic Federation may have state or Northern California soccer playoffs. Then the strength of the EBAL could really be displayed.

Bad weather stops soccer

Due to the heavy rains last week all the youth soccer competition in the valley with the exception of the Livermore and San Ramon clubs was cancelled.

As a result we are running features on former East Bay Athletic League soccer stars who are playing for college teams now.

SF aids Chabot

Chabot College's defending state champion soccer team received some unexpected help from City College of San Francisco in its quest for another Golden Gate Conference championship Tuesday afternoon.

The City College team upset powerful Foothill of Los Altos Hills, 4-2. Foothill is considered to be the Gladiators' strongest rival for the GGC championship. Chabot defeated San Francisco, 4-2 in the Astro Cup Tournament at Diablo Valley College three weeks ago. The Gladiators will take on Foothill at 3:15 p.m. tomorrow in Los Altos Hills.

Chabot is paced by ex-Amador Valley player Kelly Clark, Derrick Hoxie of Dublin and Kenny Watts of Livermore, the teams' high scorer.

Schnitzer ceremony

William and Lynn Schnitzer were married "for eternity" in an unusual religious ceremony performed by the Rev. Richard L. McCartney, D.D., at the Cathedral Tree in the Trees of Mystery at Klamath, Calif.

Religious precepts, held by the Schnitzers as members of the Interim Church of Jesus Christ in San Leandro, provide for a marriage "for eternity" on the fifth anniversary of their wedding. "The marriage for eternity stems from their belief that God is Love, and love is therefore an eternal element of life that crosses death into eternity," explains the Rev. McCartney.

The Cathedral Tree is a cluster of nine redwoods, fused at the root and forming a natural outdoor altar. The setting was decked with ferns. The Schnitzers celebrated the occasion with friends at a reception afterward at Eureka.

The Schnitzers are residents of Pleasanton; Lynn, an employee of Dr. Harmon Probst of Livermore, and William, an employee of Roos Atkins of San Francisco.

New ballet class Older students learn faster

By JEAN McENNA

"You wonder why you sacrifice so much for ballet, and then one day you'll leap into the air and feel you're never coming down!"

Young Betsy Hausburg of Pleasanton speaks of the challenge and charisma of the most difficult of dances with an amazing depth of understanding. She has sacrificed much for ballet and has reaped the rewards of single-minded dedication.

Her two new ballet classes — one for teens, the other for adult women — should appeal to all those who have dreamed of moving with grace and beauty. Registration through the Pleasanton Recreation Department is now open for adult classes from 10 to 11 a.m., and teen classes from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., Mondays and Wednesdays at the Century House beginning Oct. 11.

Students can look forward to improved posture and muscle tone, a greater awareness of movement and music, and renewed self-discipline.

It's not easy, Betsy advises, but older students who take instruction with a positive attitude can easily master in eight weeks what a younger student may take years to accomplish. She also believes that the classical ballet figure — long - legged, straight - backed, loose - jointed — is NOT an absolute prerequisite.

"The human body is capable of so much, it has such great potential," she is convinced. "In Russia they train only those with perfect bodies. But in the United States, we take what physical characteristics the dancers have and create original dance forms for them."

Betsy is something of a phenomenon in the world of ballet, having begun serious study at the ripe old age of 16! She stood beside younger students half her size and mastered basic ballet techniques with incredible speed and determination — three hours a day, six days a week.

"It's impossible, you'll never make it," said her most influential instructor. His skepticism goaded her into working harder, and within six months she surpassed all the other students and decided on a career in ballet.

As a student at Butler University in Indianapolis, Betsy learned the hard way that success and leading roles went only to those who fought their way to the front of the chorus line. She captured a lead in "Harlequin Nod" in its first U.S. performance.

As a ballerina with the Syracuse Ballet Company (which folded within a year) and the acclaimed Hartford Ballet of Connecticut, she worked excruciatingly long hours teaching and rehearsing, then designed costumes far into the night.

Multi-talented, she dreams of forming a company for dancers over 30 years of age, but will settle for the financial security of teaching for now, turning "ducks" into graceful swans.

Betsy Hausburg (right) believes anyone can reap the beautiful benefits of ballet as she prepares for two classes opening Oct. 11 for teens and adult women.

LAA

He will demonstrate watercolor techniques using such materials as found pigments, glue and tree seal. A student of Erik Oback and Ted Wood, Maddock has been featured in several national traveling shows.

Dublin demo

John Pena, a specialist in the use of three primary colors, will demonstrate portrait painting for the Valley Artists Tuesday, Oct. 12 at Frederickson Elementary School in Dublin. The 7:30 p.m. event is open to the public.

Pena conducts workshops throughout California, and is a portrait instructor at Pleasanton. He earned a "first" at the 1976 Lodi Grape Festival.

PAL

Don Larsen will be the guest speaker for the Oct. 18 meeting of the Pleasanton Art League.

Larsen's demonstration of pen-and-ink techniques is open to the public at no charge. The 7:30 p.m. program is scheduled at the Pleasanton Cultural Arts Building on Black Avenue.

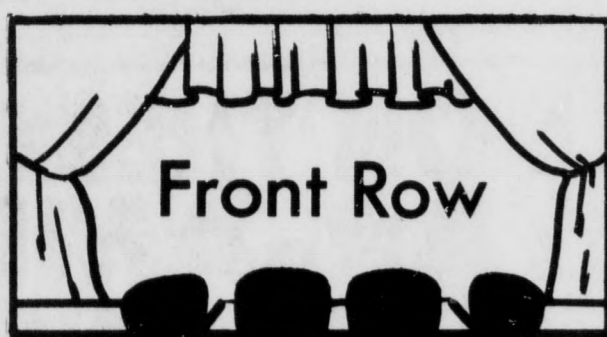

Resident of Livermore and principal of Jackson Avenue School there, Larsen was recipient of a purchase award at the recent Festival '76.

Russian folk fest at Pleasanton

The eight-member Russian Folk Dance Festival comes to Amador Valley High School Auditorium Saturday, Oct. 9 for a lively evening of ethnic entertainment at 8 p.m. The attraction is the first in the Chabot College Performing Arts Series, and all seats are $2. Tickets are available through the Pleasanton Recreation Department. Nicolai Ivanovich Massenkoff (pictured in back row, center) began his musical career as a soloist at a Russian church in China at age six. He immigrated to the United States and later graduated from the University of California in voice and drama. He studied with the great basso Alexander Kipnis, and was awarded a scholarship to work with Tito Gobbi in Florence, Italy. His Russian gypsy ensemble has been featured at San Francisco's Goethe Institute, the Inverness Music Festival and the Bear Valley Music Festival.

By AL FISCHER

"Marathon Man" is not likely to be among the "Best Movie" candidates when the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences gets around to voting in early January.

But this is not to say the film, which bows throughout the Bay Area next Wednesday, is not without redeeming value and worthy of 2 hours and 15 minutes of your time.

The Robert Evans-Sidney Beckerman production tells of an introspective young New York graduate student (Dustin Hoffman) and the murderous international fugitive-former Nazi (Lord Laurence Olivier) who becomes his nemesis.

It is a richly detailed study of characters who become enmeshed in a terrifying and mysterious chain of circumstance, set against a background of political crises in New York and Paris — and harkening back to the Sen. Joseph McCarthy hearings and the Nazi concentration camp at Auschwitz.

But the film, like "Taxi Driver" which has been reviewed in this column, is excessively violent. It's beginning - to - end murder and death, using pistol, concealed knife (in Szell's - Olivier - sleeve), garroting and torture.

Olivier, as Szell, is perfectly villainous and Hoffman, as Babe, is quite believable as the graduate student caught up in the political intrigue as weaved by Olivier, William Devane (as Janeway), Roy "Jaws" Scheider (as Doc) and Marthe Keller (Elsa).

Author William Goldman wrote the screenplay of his highly - successful novel. His screenplay credits include "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" and "All the President's Men."

Hoffman was an Oscar nominee for "Lenny," "The Graduate," and "Midnight Cowboy."

Lord Olivier's appearance marks his return to filmmaking in America for the first time in 25 years.

"Marathon Man" opens area-wide on Oct. 13 with Festival Cinema in Hayward the nearest location. It will also open the same day at Northpoint in San Francisco and Festival in Concord.

The television series rendition of Jim Bouton's highly - popular book "Ball Four" has received mixed (at best) reviews.

But the characterization of Rhino, by Pleasanton's Ben Davidson, has received critical acclaim by no less than Sports Illustrated magazine.

SI headed its full page review of "Ball Four" with "Two strikes on Ball Four."

But Davidson, who played pro football for the Raiders and later with Portland of the defunct World Football League, is described as "towering over this foolishness; his debut in a TV series is one of the show's bright spots. Fellow ex-jock Bouton delivers his lines blandly, but his presence does give Ball Four a touch of authenticity."

And later ... "Davidson is excellent as a catcher named Rhino, and Jack Somack (who won a Clio award as the inept actor in the spicymeatball commercial of a few years ago) is good as the pot-bellied manager Capogrosso."

The show can be seen each Wednesday night (at least for another 10 or 11 weeks) at 8:30 p.m.

The 20th Annual San Francisco International Film Festival bows Oct. 13 at the Palace of Fine Arts Theatre, Bay and Lyon, for a 12-night run.

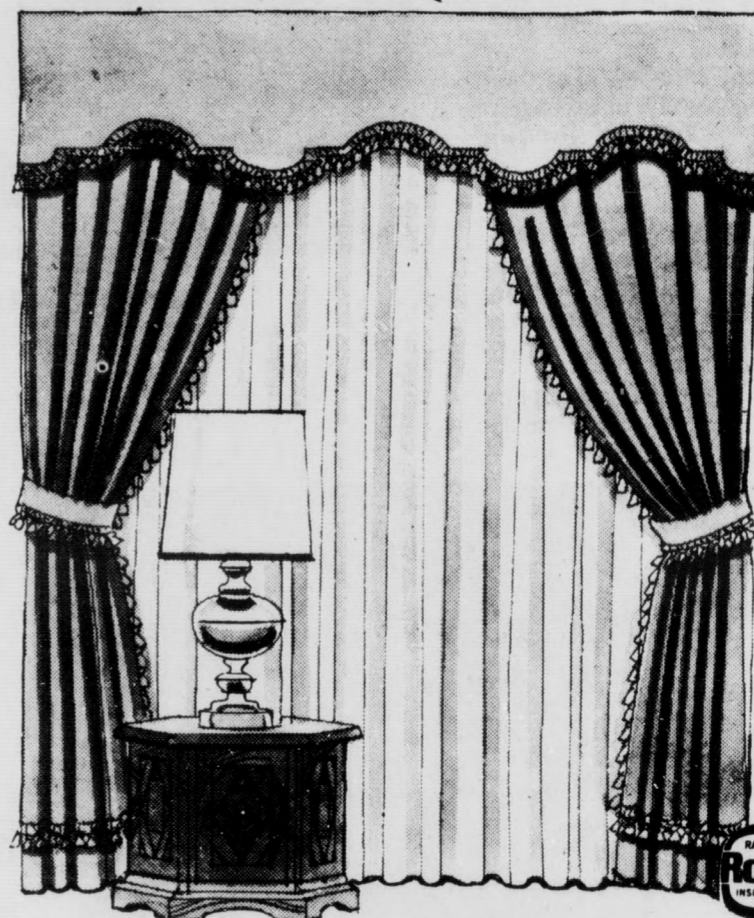

Opening feature is "Caddie," an Australian entry, which plays again Oct. 14 at 7 p.m. At 9:30 the same night Jeanne Moreau stars in "Lumiere." Miss Moreau has also written and directed the film.

On the 15th, a U.S. entry will play entitled "Hollywood on Trial," which is another convulsive and wretched attempt to explain the so-called "blacklisting" of communists and communist sympathizers during the Hiss - Chambers - Goldberg sellout of America.

Tickets are available through the Downtown Center Box Office in San Francisco, in Oakland at Neil Thrums and at The Book Mark in Fremont.

For Thursday, Oct. 7, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You must rely on yourself today! Allies who usually support you will not be in your corner. They may even oppose your basic motives.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Coworkers may try to take advantage of you today. The choice on whether or not to be a fall guy rests with you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Allow everyone to have their say today, even though others' ideas may seem foolish. Being autocratic will only bring you unnecessary grief.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
The decks may be stacked against you today. It will be easier to back off than to strive. But you can win if you are persistent.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Ideas you know to be sound may go over like lead balloons with key people today. You're perceptions aren't at fault — they're obstinate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Be wary of business situations in which you could get clobbered with the incidentals. Read the fine print before signing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You owe it to yourself to have the final voice in anything affecting you directly. No one should speak for you in a matter involving your future.

volving your future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Life is tough enough without making any extra waves for yourself. However, you could do just that if you don't mind your career relationships.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Depend only on that which you have in hand today. Writing checks on anticipations is a foolish preoccupation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
It's admirable to be ambitious and set lofty goals today, but it's sheer folly to try to make your reach exceed your grasp.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Steer clear of one who usually sees little merit in your most original ideas. He's sure to rain on your parade today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
An associate has a way of making you feel obligated to him. Today he'll try to make points with a long-past action that really wasn't a favor.

Atkinson files suit

OAKLAND — Oakland Raider George Atkinson, in a move unprecedented in football history, will file a multimillion dollar slander suit against Pittsburgh Steelers coach Chuck Noll, his attorney said Wednesday.

The suit, to be filed in two or three weeks, is an outgrowth of comments credited to Noll after the Raiders beat Pittsburgh 31-28 Sept. 12, said state Assemblyman Willie Brown, acting as Atkinson's attorney.

The furor revolves around a concussion suffered by Pittsburgh receiver Lynn Swann after Atkinson swatted him in the back of the head as Swann was going for a pass.

After the game, Noll implied that some of Oakland's defensive corps were part of "a criminal element in the NFL." Brown said the suit, which will ask for $1 million to $10 million, will be based on that statement.

"I may also sue the Steelers," Brown said, "because he uttered those words as a representative of the Steelers. We have not decided on the figure. It will be based on what damage has been done to George's reputation and to his ability to earn money."

After the game, Noll filed a complaint with NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who viewed game films and fined Atkinson $1,500 and Jack Tatum, another Raider, $750. The fines have not been paid.

In a statement issued Wednesday, Tony DeCello, also representing the players, said singling out the two men in "a rough game" has led to their being "booed unmercifully when their names were announced."

"We will not under any circumstances permit our clients to pay the fines..." DeCello said. "Rozelle has no authority to give out an arbitrary fine or to enforce it."

The two players and their attorneys met with Rozelle in New York Monday to request a formal hearing on the matter.

Mats eye 'second season'

Granada High finished out the first half of the East Bay Athletic League Varsity Tennis season with a resounding 7-0 triumph over the California Grizzlies yesterday afternoon in Livermore.

The Mats now enter the second half with a 6-1 mark, one game behind undefeated league-leaders Monte Vista. Yesterday's match with the Grizzlies was a makeup of an earlier match that had been rained out.

The Matadors didn't surrender a single set to the Grizzlies, although a trio of Grizzly netters displayed good performances that impressed Granada mentor Lee Williford.

"They're stronger than they were last year," said the winning coach. "But they're at kind of a disadvantage over there, because they've only got three courts to practice on."

Cal's Mike Daugherty took Granada number one singles man Manzar Iqbal to a tiebreaker in his second set, eventually losing 7-6 after dropping the initial set 6-3.

Larry Walters, meanwhile, battled Granada's Jeff Mackanic in the first set before losing, 6-3, and then went on to fall apart in the second set 6-0. Mackanic was nearly forced to forfeit his match when he arrived late because of a class exam, which would have caused a problem in the seeding order for coach Williford, but arrived in time.

Bruce Lutz, a freshman for the Grizzlies, carried Granada's Carl Latkin to a tiebreaker in his first set, but lost 7-6. Latkin, who was playing only his second match of the season after a bout with mononucleosis, drew praise from Williford. "He started kind of slow, but in the second set he started playing some tennis."

Williford was impressed with the freshman, Lutz. "I think he's going to be pretty good, he's got all the ingredients but just needs a little growing up to do."

Tony Delgado, playing his first singles match of the season, whipped Dave Simpson 6-0, 6-2, while Murray Dean and Greg Corallo, also playing for the first time together as doubles partners, walloped Brian McIntosh and Jim Untiet 6-0, 6-2. Bill Jenkins ripped Scott Bartholomew 6-1, 6-1 in the third singles match while Paul Hurdlow and Chris Watchmaker won in the other doubles match over Cal's Bruce Morgan and Joe Skeen, 6-3, 6-2.

As far as the second round action ound. When the two teams do meet, though, the match will be played on the Mats' home court, after the Dons were whipped 5-2 in Alamo the first time around.

In late results Tuesday afternoon Granada dumped Dublin 7-0, and San Ramon rolled over California, 6-1.

goes, Williford sees little change ahead. "Monte Vista is still the team to beat, but I think Amador and Livermore are still good teams." Granada, about the only squad who has come even close to beating the 'Stangs this season, will need a top effort to pull it off the second time around.

Gaels win thriller

Dublin stayed tied for the East Bay Athletic League lead in girls varsity volleyball action with a tight 15-13, 15-13 victory over California late Tuesday afternoon.

The Gaels and Granada are both 4-1 going into today's action.

Linda Doyal and Michelle Sequiera each served four points for the winners in the first game. Jody Catala of California tallied five times. Catala added seven more in the second contest but Linda Finco equaled that for the Gaels and Dublin pulled out the match.

In another EBAL match Tuesday Monte Vista defeated Amador Valley, 15-7, 15-4.

The victory gave the Mustangs a 3-2 mark in EBAL action and Amador fell to a 2-3 record.

Karin Fischer started Monte Vista on the right track with seven straight serving points in the first contest. Julie Edmonds added five more points to clinch the first game.

In junior varsity competition Dublin knocked off California, 15-11, 15-1 as Stephanie Sibilia scored seven points.

The Mustangs rallied from behind to take Amador, 9-15, 15-3, 15-9 in their junior varsity contest.

Terri Miller was outstanding for the Mustangs. Monte Vista is tied in the EBAL standings with San Ramon and Livermore, also with 3-2 marks. California is 1-4 and Foothill is 0-5.

Duncan player of week

Former Dublin High School placekicker Steve Duncan was named Bay Area junior college special teams player of the week after his trio of field goals downed West Valley, 9-6, in Golden Gate Conference football Saturday night in Hayward.

Duncan, whose field goal of 39 yards won the game for the Gladiators in the final 51 seconds, leads the GGC in kick-scoring with seven field goals in 13 tries and six consecutive points-after-touchdown.

His 27 points rank him fourth in overall scoring, behind San Mateo receiver Paul Bachtold, who has 38.

Duncan's once and current teammate, quarterback Steve Grant, is fourth in passing stats, having completed 29 of 57 for 261 yards and one touchdown. However, his rival for the Chabot signal-calling job, Chuck Stevenson, has worked his way up to seventh in the GGC stats.

The former Tennyson High School player has completed 21 of 31 for 218 yards and a touchdown. San Mateo's Randy Gomez is still atop the heap with 67 completions for 935 yards and 13 touchdowns.

Chabot's top rusher, John Fekete, is fifth in that department, having gained 235 yards on 43 packs. The leader, Laney's J.J. Johnson, has amassed 481 yards on 68 carries; good for five touchdowns.

Bear Games Sold Out

CHICAGO — The Chicago Bears today announced that their next three National Football League home games are sellouts and as a result will be televised locally.

The sellouts are Oct. 31 against Minnesota, Nov. 7 against Oakland and Nov. 14 against Green Bay.

Goalie Sent To Hampton

CINCINNATI — John Kinnally, goaltender for the Cincinnati Stingers of the World Hockey Association, was sent to the Hampton Gulls of the Southern Hockey League Monday.

The move leaves the goaltender's job to Paul Hoganson and Norm Lapointe, with Hoganson expected to start.

Giants to name manager

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Giants said Wednesday the new manager of that National League baseball club would be named at a news conference at 3 p.m. today.

The original field of eight candidates apparently had narrowed down to three: Vern Rapp, 48, who guided Denver to an American Association pennant this season; Joe Alfantano, 42, who coached with the Giants for four seasons before coaching this year at San Diego; and former Los Angeles Dodgers star Maury Wills, 44.

When Bill Rigney resigned as Giants' manager after the last game of the season Oct. 2, the Giants said eight candidates would be interviewed in seeking his successor. One, Dick Williams, was hired earlier this week to manage the Montreal Expos.

Four of the other seven apparently are now out of the running, but Giants spokesmen refused to confirm these reports in advance of the news conference. Those four are Jimmy Davenport and Bobby Winkles of the Giants' coaching staff, former Oakland A's manager Alvin Dark and Rocky Bridges, manager of the Giants Phoenix farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Parks offer scenic riding trails

Horseback riding may be an expensive luxury in Golden Gate Park, but at nearby East Bay Regional Parks a family can plod off into the sunset without breaking the bank.

It costs $4.50 to $5 an hour, sometimes less for kids, to rent a horse at one of four stables adjacent to a sprawling regional park. All parks in the EBRPD system, in Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, are replete with trails leading along high coastal and inland ridges, through redwood, oak, pine and eucalyptus stands and up shaded creeks and canyons.

Views, to the bayside and inland hills and mountains, are said to be spectacular.

Rent a horse at:

CHABOT EQUESTRIAN CENTER: Owned by EBRPD at 14600 Skyline Blvd., Oakland (569-4428) in 5,000-acre Anthony Chabot Regional Park, which connects on the north with 2,000-acre Redwood Regional Park.

LAS TRAMPAS STABLES: An equestrian operation in Little Hills Ranch, partly owned by EBRPD, adjoining 3,600-acre Las Trampas Regional Wilderness. Located on Bollinger Canyon Road, Lafayette (837-9850).

GRIZZLY PEAK STABLES: This private stable is on the south rim of 2,000-acre Tilden Regional Park at 271 Lomas Cantadas, Orinda (254-8283).

There are trails along the Pacific Coastal range and extending in to 2,045-acre Wildcat Canyon Regional Park. To join a naturalist-led group of riders going out of Grizzly Peak at 10 a.m. every Friday, phone the EBRPD Environmental Education Center in Tilden, 525-2233.

BUCKEYE RANCH: Located on Springhill Road, Lafayette (283-3846) with trails leading into 4,194-acre Briones Regional Park.

For maps showing the trails in these four parks, contact EBRPD at 11500 Skyline Blvd., Oakland 94619.

Livermore students cited

LIVERMORE — Seven Livermore High students have received letters of commendation for their high scores on National Merit Scholarship tests.

According to LHS principal Paul Reginato, commended scholars are: Carol Gay Anderson, Roberta Burdick, Christopher Fagan, Nathan Hoover, Brian McFann, David Simons and Russell Tilleman.

They are among 35,000 students nationwide who are being recognized for their outstanding performance on the 1975 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test / National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. They represent less than 2 per cent of the nation's high-school senior class.

Although commended students scored below the level necessary for becoming a semi-finalist and continuing in the competition for coveted Merit Scholarships, their test performance indicates "exceptional academic promise," Reginato says.

The cost of heating a house is still going up. Hot air rises, too. And that's why the attic is often where most home heat-loss takes place. Just insulating an unfinished attic up to R-19, the recommended standard, can save up to 25% of the heat you use. And you'll enjoy greater comfort.

The cost of insulating an attic is probably less than you think. For instance, if you get a qualified contractor such as a member of the Insulation Contractors Association to do it, in a typical California house it should cost about $300 to $400. Even less if you do it yourself.

So send for our free Insulation Booklet. It tells you, in easy-to-understand words and pictures, all you need to know about insulation. It tells you how to check whether your attic insulation is adequate, and if not, what to do about it and how to do it.

PG&E wants to help you save energy and keep your bills from going out of sight. So get the facts. What you don't know can cost you. And that's not hot air.

Hotline spells 'HELP'

PLEASANTON — No matter how Candy Ingram adds up the figures, they tell her the same sad story.

Five people laid off. Rent up $3,000. Gas and phone up $850. No raises for the staff. And income down by $700 this year.

Candy is the gamin-faced director of Hotline, the Valley-wide social services agency that provides drug abuse counseling, a telephone crisis line (828-4357) and a multitude of other helps for local residents.

As head of Hotline for the past four years, Candy has seen it climb from a volunteer agency with a staff of three, to a $15,000-a-year venture, to the $92,000-a-year program it is today.

Her normally merry and optimistic outlook fades as she contemplates the huge program she's supposed to run this year, on less money than she received last year thanks to a big cut in state funding.

With a staff of 13 — not counting the five who were laid off in July — Hotline accomplishes a big variety of projects.

There's AIRE, Alcoholism Information, Referral and Education — help for young and old alcoholics and their families.

There's free counseling for individual students, groups and families. It's the only totally free counseling offered in the Valley, and is open to anyone.

There are "outreach" programs, including a Chicano outreach worker who makes contact with Spanish-speaking residents in need of Hotline's services.

"Project Kickback" is a group for all Valley teenagers, offering rap sessions and trips out of town.

Counselor Dorris Fagan offers free "Confident Parenting" classes for parents who want to learn more about their roles.

Finally, a volunteer program makes good use of community talent, young and old — as trained listeners on "Hotline's" telephone line, as fund raisers, newsletter editors and in other slots which can't be filled by a paid staff member.

The average Hotline staff member makes around $600 a month. "They put in far more time and energy than they're paid for," Candy says of her loyal staff. "And they never know from one year to the next whether they'll get a raise — or even, whether they will have a job. It's very de-motivating."

In order to plug some of the holes in their budget, Hotline staff are planning a big fundraiser for next Friday night, Oct. 15.

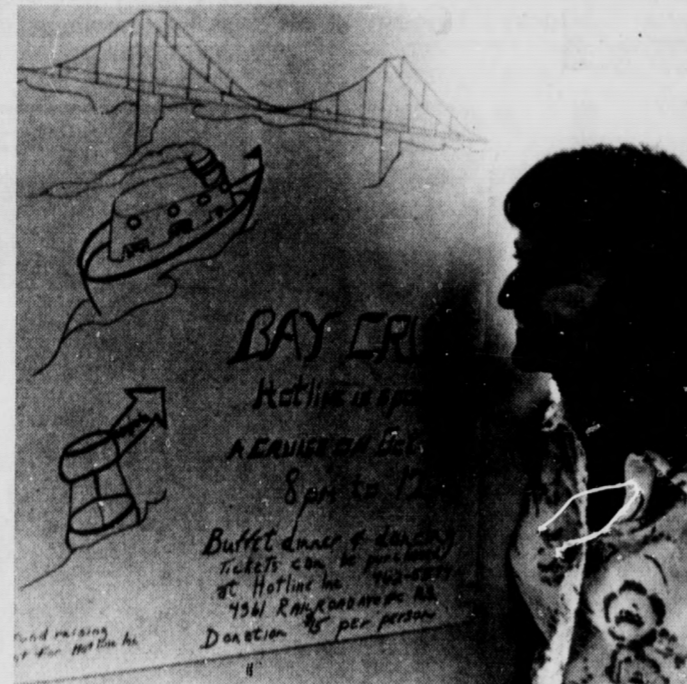

It's a four-hour boat cruise on the bay, complete with hot buffet supper and a live band for dancing.

"Harbor Emperor" is the name of the two-deck boat that will glide local party-goers across the waves between 8 p.m. and midnight. Although the boat holds 400, Hotline staff are limiting the ticket sales to 275, in order to assure plenty of room for everyone.

There will be a no-host bar aboard the ship. Tickets are $15 apiece, available from the Hotline office, 4361 Railroad Ave., Pleasanton (462-5544). Also, local businesses have tickets on hand, including Book Haven in Livermore, The Photo Plant, Pleasanton and Contemporary TV, Dublin.

Reservations are suggested by this weekend, since the ticket sale is limited.

If all the tickets are sold (they're tax-deductible),

Hotline director Candy Ingram is hoping the big party on the bay will bring $1,000 to her struggling agency. (Times photo)

The first aid class, for a maximum of 20 people, will be held in the community lecture room on Saturday, Oct. 9 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A certified Red Cross instructor will teach the course. It is a condensation of the standard 16-hour first aid course using filmed demonstrations, programmed workbooks and guided practice sessions.

Meanwhile, she is angling for a $32,000 grant of "state augmentation funds," money which will go to existing programs in November.

There's $68,400 coming through the county in federal revenue sharing money and $23,300 in state SB 714 funding (last year, Hotline received twice as much from the state, but program priorities were changed.)

It's been a rough time for the vigorous Hotline program. "Community support is needed now more than ever," Candy urges.

It can come in the form of much-needed office furniture; cash donations; letters to the Board of Supervisors; and utilization of the many services the agency offers.

Or — how about treating yourself to a pair of tickets to their Oct. 15 bay cruise?

At Family Medical Center

Red Cross multimedia course

DUBLIN — The Family Medical Center of Valley Memorial Hospital is sponsoring a Red Cross standard first aid multimedia course and a class in body mechanics.

The first aid class, for a maximum of 20 people, will be held in the community lecture room on Saturday, Oct. 9 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A certified Red Cross instructor will teach the course. It is a condensation of the standard 16-hour first aid course using filmed demonstrations, programmed workbooks and guided practice sessions.

The course meets OSHA requirements. The fee is $6 per employee, payable to the Red Cross. This covers the cost of the course plus a kit. The kit includes four workbooks, bandaging materials, printed matter and a standard first aid and personal safety textbook.

The Body Mechanics class will be conducted Tuesday, Nov. 9 from 8 to 10 a.m.

The course, which will be taught by a registered physical therapist. It will include a film, demonstrations and individual practice on the proper techniques of lifting to help avoid back strain and industrial accidents due to improper lifting. Cost of the class which is limited to 20, is $2 per employee, payable to the Family Medical Center.

If more than 20 people are interested in attending either of these two classes, a second session will be arranged at a later date.

If your company has approximately 20 employees who are interested in a body mechanics class for just your employees either at the Center or at your facility, group rates are available on request.

A Letter to the Parents & Taxpayers of the Pleasanton Joint Elementary School District

Dear Friends:

The most important thing happening in America today is the education of children. Parents, teachers and taxpayers — we are all involved, directly or indirectly in shaping tomorrow's citizens.

It is with great concern that we, the Amador Valley Teachers' Association, feel the necessity to speak out on certain issues.

The Law

On July 1, 1976, a new law governing the relationship between teachers and school boards went into effect. That law, Senate Bill 160, authorizes a binding, bilateral agreement between the two parties.

Binding Arbitration

We want this to be part of the agreement. If it is included, then, should either party dispute the interpretation of the agreement, a professional arbitrator would be called to rule only on the disputed issue.

The school board does not want this to be part of the agreement. They desire to be the final arbitrators of the agreement. We believe their position to be analogous to that of one team in a football team also serving as the referee.

Agency Shop

SB 160 requires that AVTA provide services for all teachers in our district. We have no choice in this matter. Therefore, we must insist that all teachers share equally in the cost of providing the services. Our school board does not agree, even though AVTA has offered to relieve the district of the responsibility of collecting the 'fair share' fee.

Other Issues

We are deeply concerned that we are teaching without an agreement. As a result, we do not know what our salaries will be; we do not know under what procedures we may be re-assigned or transferred; we do not know the procedures by which we will be evaluated; and, we do not know what duties, curricular or extra-curricular, we will be required to perform.

In Conclusion

Our primary concern is your children's education regardless of our other professional concerns. At a recent school board meeting, each school principal stated that the smooth opening of his school was due to the support of the teachers, most of whom returned weeks before the opening of school.

We encourage you to learn more about these and related issues when they are debated by Tom Zach, AVTA president, and Dr. Bruce Newlin, Superintendent of Schools.

Respectfully yours,

AVTA

Valley vintner teaches others wine industry

LIVERMORE — There's more to wine than just tending it, in the mind of local vineyard owner and winemaker Chris Lagiss.

When he's not tending to his 33 acres of gray reeling, chenin blanc and French colombar grapes, Lagiss is either preparing for or giving a course at one of the Bay Area universities.

He's getting ready for his "sixth or seventh course," which begins Wednesday at the University of California Extension Center in San Francisco.

He has also taught at San Jose State University and California State University Hayward.

Entitled "The California Wine Industry," the lecture series will cover a wide range of topics — from the characteristics of the state's different wine-growing regions and the year-round operation of a typical winery to the financial, marketing and legal considerations involved in wine production.

Lagiss gets excited when he talks about his favorite subject, the fruit of the vine. His eyes light up and he gestures emphatically with his hands. He is a delightful man to meet, so friendly and so at home in his vineyard — even when it is wet, he will grin as he sneaks a little round fruit and plops it into his mouth. The grin in his eye tells the visitor it is delicious.

All this wetness lately hasn't exactly helped his grapes, but Lagiss says he is more fortunate than some of the other Valley growers who irrigate then are inundated by the cloudbursts.

Lagiss doesn't irrigate, so his crops are not already soaked before the rains come.

But the vineyard owner sighs and calls this year a disaster.

"I'm lucky if I get a half ton yield per acre this year," he said, noting he usually gets upwards of 1½ ton yields.

"No one else that I know of gives as broad and academic a course as I do," says Lagiss. "It's not like a lot of wine appreciation classes where the teacher has a gift of gab."

He said many people in his class are studying it for investment purposes. Several have started small wineries in the San Jose area and one former student who bought a vineyard last year still calls up his teacher every so often for a bit of advice.

He must know what he's talking about, because even the "big boys" come to pick his brain. Heublin United Vintners, the cooperative that manufactures Italian Swiss Colony wine, once sent people from their personnel department, their attorneys, some marketing and sales people and an analyst to study under the Livermore man.

"They wanted to know what is involved in this business," said the instructor - vineyard owner - winemaker - family man.

One student returned to tell him, "you taught us to analyze why the wines are different, not just how they taste different."

He and his wife Beverly have two daughters, Chrysanne who attends Granada High School and Terry who is taking classes at San Francisco State University but is preparing for a trip to the wine country of France.

So, with more than 20 years' experience in the industry, Lagiss is ready to walk into the first of nine evening lectures Wednesday at extension center.

He will tell his students how to start a small winery, how to read a label as a consumer and how to get the most quality for the price, whether selling, growing or just tasting the liquid stuff.

Needless to say, selected wines will be tasted following each lecture to compare the products of different wineries and regions. (Now that seems like nice homework for a class!)

Registration for the series is $80, including the wines to be tasted. Anyone interested can call Continuing Education in Business and Management at 642-4239 or the extension center at 861-6833.

Stanley Blvd. widening plan moves ahead

Alameda County Bureau
OAKLAND — A wider Stanley Boulevard moved that much closer to reality this week after the county picked up three required pieces of land.

County supervisors agreed to drop their eminent domain action against California Rock and Gravel Co. when the firm agreed to convey a 2.7-acre strip to the county for $33,330, the appraised value and the board's final bid.

The 44-foot wide, 2,600-foot strip on the southern side of Stanley Boulevard runs west from Isabel Avenue.

The board also accepted deeds from the East Bay Regional Park District, Lone Star Industries and Cal Rock for rights of way easements along the road.

Part of the rights of way will be used for a bicycle path planned to skirt the future four-lane road.

The county plans eventually to widen Stanley Boulevard as the major link between the two cities. The current $2 million project should be completed next year.

A final phase that completes the four-lane link is dependent on still unsecured federal funds.

Mori talks tax reforms at Livermore

Assemblyman Floyd Mori offered his views on property tax reform to a Civics class at Livermore High's Adult School Tuesday.

"I would like to see decreased pressures on the property tax as a means of financing certain services," Mori said. "The state should finance the bulk of education—at least half. The state should also pay for various social services such as welfare and mental health which are now being handled by the counties."

Mori will address the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, Oct. 12 at Hap's Restaurant, 122 West Neal St. in Pleasanton, at noon.

On Tuesday, Oct. 19, Mori will address the Dublin Rotary Club at noon at the Hungry Hunter, 5104 Hopyard Road in Pleasanton.

Assembly seeker tells views

The following are excerpts from a speech delivered by David Funsch, Republican candidate for the 15th District Assembly seat currently held by Floyd Mori, to students at Cal State Hayward Tuesday.

"Many people say they are sick and tired of the government we have today, where their representatives don't represent their feelings. Yet these people are continually re-elected and sent back to Sacramento or Washington. I am one of those who are not satisfied with what I receive for my tax dollars and I decided to do something about it by running for the California Assembly. I do not feel that the incumbent, S. Floyd Mori, adequately represents our feelings and it is time for him to go.

"Sometimes it is hard to take issue with my opponent for you never know where he stands that day. I would like to point out a few of his inconsistencies:

one parcel containing 9.12 acres located at 6700 Golden Gate Drive, at the southern end of that street, Dublin Area, Pleasanton Township; bearing County Assessor's Designation: Map 941, Block 1500, Parcel 15-14, as shown on the map labelled "1279th Zoning Unit, Exhibit A, September 15, 1976," on file with this Commission at 399 Elmhurst Street, Hayward, California.

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON, CALIFORNIA

ORDINANCE NO. 792 AN ORDINANCE REZONING APPROXIMATELY 62 ACRES OF LAND LOCATED BETWEEN WEST LAS POSITAS BOULEVARD, THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD TRACKS, THE TASSAJARA CANAL AND SANTA RITA ROAD FROM PUD (I-P AND C-2) (PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT, INDUSTRIAL PARK AND COMMERCIAL SERVICE) DISTRICT TO P (PUBLIC AND INSTITUTIONAL) DISTRICT AND PUD (RM-2500 AND O) (PLANNED UNIT DEVELOPMENT, MULTIPLE RESIDENTIAL AND OFFICE) DISTRICT AND AMENDING THE ZONING MAP OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON ACCORDINGLY (ZONING UNIT #154). THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Rezones from PUD (I-P AND C-2) (Planned Unit Development) District, allowing industrial park and commercial service uses, to P (Public and Institutional) District approximately 23 acres of land and to PUD (RM-2500 and O) (Planned Unit Development) District, allowing multiple family residential and office uses, approximately 39 acres of land located between West Las Positas Boulevard, the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks, the Tassajara Canal and Santa Rita Road, which is more particularly described in Zoning Unit Map No. 154, attached hereto.

Section 2. In order to protect the public health, safety and general welfare this rezoning shall be subject to the following conditions:

(1) The applicant, or his successors, shall implement those mitigation measures identified by Resolution No. 76-205, or by future environmental reports prepared for this project, and that have been required as mitigation measures by the Planning Commission and/or City Council at any developmental stage of the project.

(2) The subject property will undergo an environmental assessment at each developmental stage, and based on such assessment, the City may require further environmental investigations, reports or studies.

(3) Development of the PUD zoned land (for multiple residential and office uses) not precede development of the hospital complex zoned public and institutional.

(4) Applicant, and his successors, be advised that sufficient sanitary sewer connections are not now available to sewer the subject property and that the time schedule when service will become available is uncertain; that the subject property is in the Valley Community Services District sewage treatment service area and that it is not on the existing VCS District priority list as set forth in Exhibit B to a Settlement Agreement dated November 8, 1972; that without listing on the priority list it may be many years before VCS District has capacity for the subject site; that the San Jose Sewerage Treatment Plant will not serve the subject property under any conditions; that a building permit cannot be issued for construction on the property until sewage treatment capacity is available or a private sewage disposal system is approved by the City Council; that any approval of a private sewage disposal system would not entitle the development to any priority for a sewer connection; that if the development were approved for a private sewage disposal system, the property will remain on said system until sewer capacity becomes available at VCS District at some unknown future date; applicant would be responsible for the costs associated with said private sewage disposal system until such time that permission was obtained to connect to the Valley Community Services District treatment plant.

Section 3. The Zoning Map of the City of Pleasanton is amended in accordance with this zoning as set forth herein.

Section 4. The City Clerk shall transmit a copy of this ordinance to the applicant and any other interested party requesting the same.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be effective thirty (30) days after the date of its final passage and adoption.

Section 6. This ordinance shall be published once within fifteen (15) days after its adoption in "THE TIMES," a newspaper of general circulation, published in the City of Pleasanton.

INTRODUCED at a regular meeting of the City Council of the City of Pleasanton on September 27, 1976, by the following vote:
